

To whom it may concern,

Aeolus Aviation Academy is a professional pilot training facility based in Northern Greece offering a comprehensive range of JAA compliant flight training programs from PPL through to integrated 'zero to ATPL', and everything in between. Our business requires a range of aircraft types to fulfill the needs of our various courses and these aircraft must be carefully chosen to ensure the safety, dependability and economy of their operation.

Aeolus has been extremely fortunate to establish a close working relationship with Bartelt Aviation in Michigan who have supplied us with a number of excellent aircraft over the past year and we fully intend to use them for our future needs. Their professionalism has been exemplary, proving complete management of the acquisition process from initial identification of candidate aircraft, technical inspections, purchasing, upgrades and maintenance through to export and final delivery to us here in Greece. I have no hesitation in recommending them to anyone wishing to use their services. Aeolus is happy to confirm this recommendation either in writing or by phone.
